SOCIETY SHOCKED

By the Suicide of Miss Daisy Garland,

A POPULAR SOCIETY YOUNG DAMSEL,

And Daughter of Ex-Attorney General Garland—Her Late Mysterious Disappearance from Her Home Explained—No Cause Assigned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The death by her own hand of Miss Daisy Garland, only daughter of ex-Attorney General Garland, shocked all Washington. Attractive in appearance and manners in a marked degree the young lady, because of her prominence during her father's occupancy of a cabinet position during Mr. Cleveland's prior administration, and because of her own personal charms was a well-known and very popular figure in society. She lived with her father and brother in the handsome residence Gen. Garland had recently purchased on Rhode Island avenue.

On the 10th of last August she mysteriously disappeared from home, and after the lapse of three days, during which time no news had been received of her, the police were requested to join in the search. This description was then sent out from police headquarters:

Look out for Miss Daisy Garland, aged 23 tall, stout, dark eyes and hair. Wore a dark dress and several diamonds. Carried a small satchel when last seen. She is a daughter of ex Attorney General Garland. Notify 915 Rhode Island avenue

Soon afterwards the tidings were received that the young lady was in Baltimore, and Representative John P. Fellows, an old-time Arkansas friend of her father, went over to that city, accompanied by her brother, and brought her back. The explanation then given was that she had left word with a young lady friend that she intended to visit Baltimore, and by some means the message failed of delivery. Her brother made public a statement that he went over to Baltimore with Col. Fellows to the address given (which was that of a Catholic family on Madison avenue), and there found his sister who would have returned in a day or two anyway. He added "She thought it was strange that we had come for her, and when she reached home found a number of people waiting for us in the house and learned the publicity that had been given her absence and the alarm it had created she was prostrated and we thought that we would have to call in a physician. If the message she sent us had been delivered there would have been no trouble."

"The report that my sister had gone into a convent, arose probably from the fact that she had talked lately of joining the Catholic church, which she will probably do shortly. I have a brother who is a member of that church and there is no objection to her joining it if she wishes."

Miss Garland, it is asserted, has referred to this episode, and said she supposed her friends would want some explanation. Yesterday morning she went down to breakfast apparently in her accustomed health and spirits. She devoted part of the morning to arranging details for a theater party, but when called for luncheon about noon was found dead in her bedroom, shot through the heart by her father's pistol, fired by her own hand. The body was still warm, but no one had heard the shot fired. Gen. Garland had gone to his law office immediately after breakfast, and first heard of his daughter's tragic death by telephone.

Yesterday afternoon the coroner viewed the remains, but did not consider an inquest necessary.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

(Extra Session.)

SENATE

WASHINGTON, Oct 27—Promptly at 11 o'clock the vice-president announced that the senate would resume its session begun on the 17th. He then, without an instant's pause, laid before the senate the "unfinished business," being house bill No 1, the silver-purchase repeal bill.

A joint resolution was offered by Mr Cullum and referred, for the transfer of the model battleship "Illinois" to the state of Illinois as an armory for the use of the naval militia of that state at the close of the Columbian exposition

The absence of a quorum having been suggested, the roll was called and forty four senators answered

Senate bill to aid the states of California, Oregon, Washington, Montana Idaho, Nevada, Wyoming, Colorado and South Dakota to support schools of mines (allowing to each of them 25 per cent. of the proceeds of the sale of mineral lands within those states, but not to exceed 12,000 per year), was passed with an amendment adding the state of Minnesota to the other states.

The debate on the silver purchase repeal bill was then at 11:40 resumed, and Mr Stewart renewed his speech upon bimetallism yielding at 1.30 to his colleague (Mr Jones) and promising to go on with his speech afterwards

At 3:45 Mr. Jones pleaded that he was somewhat tired, and said that he would prefer to finish to-morrow what little more he had to say. He hardly knew whether to call his remarks an argument or an obituary, for he took it for granted that the cause which he had defended was practically lost

After Mr. Jones had taken his seat Mr Mc. Pherson began to put a long question to him in regard to the competition of India. His question was so involved and intricate that at last Mr Jones broke in upon it with the remark that he did not believe that a single senator understood the question propounded. No one understood whether it was a speech or a question or an answer

Mr Voorhees regretted that Mr Jones could not conclude his speech to-day; but he suggested for the sake of economy of time that the senators from Nevada and New Jersey would between now and to-morrow come to an understanding about McPherson's question [Laughter.]

Mr Jones—I think it will take all that time

Mr Voorhees—In the meantime as there seems to be no other senator to go on now (and not with a view of preventing anybody speaking who desires to speak), I ask for a vote on the pending question

Mr McPherson—I would prefer to have the senator from Nevada answer my question now.

Mr Voorhees—He can do it to-morrow if he can do it at all. [Laughter.] I ask for a vote on the pending question.

The Vice-President—The question is on the amendment offered by the senator from Kansas (Mr. Peffer).

Mr. Allen called for the reading of the amendment, and it was read. It provides for the coinage of silver bullion deposited by any owner thereof as under the act of January 18 1837, and revives and re-enacts that act, and repeals all acts in conflict therewith.

The vote was taken amid much excitement and was finally announced after much shifting of pairs, as. Yeas, 28, nays, 39

The following is the vote in detail

Yeas—Messrs. Allen, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Butler, Call, Coke, Daniel, Dubois, George, Harris, Irby, Jones (Ark) Jones (Nev), Kyle, Martin, Pascoe, Peffer, Power, Pugh, Roche, Shoup, Teller, Vance, Vest, Walthall and Wolcott—28.

Nays—Messrs. Aldrich, Caffrey, Camden, Cullom, Davis, Dixon, Dolph, Faulkner, Frye, Gallinger, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Hale, Higgins, Hill, Hoar, Lindsay, Lodge, McMillen, McPherson, Manderson, Mitchell (Wis.), Morrill, Murphy, Palmer, Perkins, Proctor, Quay, Ransom, Sherman, Smith, Stockbridge, Turpie, Vilas, Voorhees, Washburn and White

Pairs were announced: Messrs. Pettigrew and Gordon, Squires and Mitchell (Ore.); Bryan and Cameron. Mills and Hansborough; Chandler and White (Cal), Colquitt and Wilson, Cockrell and Allison; Hawley and Morgan. Hunton and Platt

Mr Voorhees then asked unanimous consent to have the vote taken on his substitute to the house bill with the understanding that it would then be treated as the original measure, open to amendment. After some discussion of his request it was conceded, and the vote was accordingly taken on the substitute. It was agreed to. Yeas 58 nays 9. The negative votes were given by Messrs Allen Bate, Call, Coke Irby, Kyle Peffer, Roach and Vance

The substitute as agreed to strikes out the whole of the house bill and inserts in lieu of it the following

"But so much of the act approved July 14, 1890, entitled 'an act directing the purchase of silver bullion and issue of treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes, and directing the secretary of the treasury to purchase from time to time silver bullion to the aggregate amount of 4,500,000 ounces, or so much thereof as may be offered in each month, at the market price thereof, not exceeding one dollar for 371 25-100 grains of pure silver, and to issue in payment for such purchases treasury notes of the United States, and the same is hereby repealed. And it is hereby declared to be the policy of the United States to continue the use of both gold and silver as standard money and to coin both gold and silver into money of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, such equality to be secured through international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as will insure the maintainance of parity in value of coins of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts. And it is hereby further declared that the efforts of the government should be steadily directed to the establishment of such a safe system of bimetallism as will maintain at all times the equal power of every dollar coined or issued by the United States in the markets and in the payment of debts

Mr. Perkins offered the amendment of which he gave notice on the 14th of October. It proposes to open the mints to the coinage of silver of proved American production at the parity of 16 to 1 with a mining or seignorage charge of 20 per cent which is to be paid into the treasury. No gold pieces of less than $20 are to be coined. Silver dollars may be exchanged at the treasury into legal tender notes of not less denomination than $10. And a committee of five monetary experts is to be appointed whose duty it shall be to keep congress and the executive advised on all necessary matters relating to the currency

Mr Perkins addressed the senate at some length in explanation and advocacy of his amendment

Messrs Stewart Allen and Teller made brief speeches and Mr Wolcott arose and addressed the chair but on Mr Voorhees' inquiry whether he would not prefer to speak to-morrow, he assented and then, on Mr. Voorhees motion the senate, at 5 40 p m, took a recess till 11 o'clock to-morrow

FROM HONOLULU.

The Wrecked Steamer Miowera—Naval News, Etc.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 28.—The correspondent of the United Press, writing under date of October 19 from Honolulu, says the condition of the wrecked steamship "Miowera" remain unchanged since the last advices. In the absence of heavy weather she will probably suffer no further injury. The proposal to float her has been accepted by agents for something under $20,000. It is proposed to raise her by pontoons

A court of inquiry has been held upon the causes of the Miowera's disaster. The British minister presided. The court acquitted Capt Stott of all blame

Admiral Skerrett received orders on the 17th to report at San Francisco as soon as he can. The admiral and his staff expect to sail per the China, November 6.

On the 14th a batallion drill and review was held of enlisted and volunteer forces of the government, making their appearance for the first time in complete uniform, drilling, and presented every aspect of an effective and reliable force

The new consul-general, Ellis Mills, arrived on the 17th. He was welcomed with great effusion by the royalists, who suppose him to be their partisan. The expected arrival by the Mariposa, on the 20th, of United States Minister Willis and of Theopolus Davis is confidently anticipated by the royalists with great hope of the campaign to be immediately inaugurated by those two gentlemen for the restoration of the native monarchy. The silence of President Cleveland leaves the annexation party still room to hope that Minister Willis may not come with instructions, as alleged by a report, to demand a reference of the whole political issue to the native vote

BOUND AND GAGGED.

Masked Men Rob the Depot at Cozad, Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 27.—A Bee special from Cozad says This morning at 5 o'clock two armed masked men entered the depot, and while one covered the night operator, James S Dingman, with a gun, the other went through the safe and cash drawer, after which they bound and gagged the operator. After they had gone a man, who had been crouching in the corner of the darkened waiting-room a terrified and silent witness, came out of his place of concealment and fled.

In their haste the robbers left a package containing about $135. Just how much they secured is not definitely known, but probably not far from $200

Sentenced for Life.

Marshal Field Gives One Million Dollars to

THE COLUMBIAN MEMORIAL MUSEUM,

On Condition that $500,000 Cash be Subscribed and $2,000,000 of the Exposition Stock be Transferred to the Projected Museum.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Director James W Ellsworth of the exposition came to the administration offices yesterday with the welcome information that Marshal Field, the dry goods prince of Chicago, had given $1,000,000 to the Columbian memorial museum under certain conditions. These conditions were that $500,000 in cash should be subscribed to the endowment fund of the museum, and that $2,000,000 of the exposition stock should be transferred to the trustees of the projected museum. One hundred thousand dollars of the additional cash fund has already been subscribed by George M. Pullman, the palace car magnate, and the directors who have interested themselves in the museum are confident that the remaining $400,000 will be raised in a few days.

It is not known definitely what amount will be raised from the subscription stock of the exposition, but the directors think that 30 per cent. of the capital stock at least will be returned to the subscribers. The sum realized from the subscription stock donated to the museum is not to be included in the $500,000 cash subscription. Director Ellsworth is confident that a majority of the $5,000,000 subscription stock will be given to the museum fund.

Directors John C. Black and Edward E. Ayer are the members of the finance committee who, with Mr. Ellsworth have secured nearly $8,000,000 to the museum fund in less than three weeks. An informal understanding has been reached between the directors and the South Park commissioners for the retention of the Fine Arts palace as the museum building to remain permanently as an ornament to Jackson park.

The chiefs of the exposition departments have been at work in a systematic way for the past two months obtaining the promise of valuable exhibits to their museum. Their success has given an impetus to the memorial enterprise and assured its success. Chief Buchanan has obtained all the exhibits in the Forestry building and Chief Skiff has done equally as well in the Mining department.

DUN'S COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

Port in Sight After a Long and Stormy Voyage.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—R G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade, issued to-day, says:

Port is in sight after a long and stormy voyage, and the prospect of a speedy end of the struggle for repeal has brought bright hopes to business. Stocks climbed rapidly for three days, banks relaxed restraints commercial loans are more freely sought and made, and reports from all quarters show the prevalence of a more hopeful feeling. This in itself tends to produce some revival of consumption and of industry, which, nevertheless, has made but moderate progress as yet. It is still too soon to expect much effect in trade and manufactures, and though monetary obstacles are to a large extent removed, there still remain other legislative questions which create uncertainty. Opinion also differs as to the extent of improvement now to be expected after so much doubt and delay and loss. But the clearings outside New York this week are not quite 20 per cent less than last year

The anticipation of repeal and the happy union of the Vanderbilt, Jersey City and Lackawanna, gave the stock market three happy days in which stocks rose an average of $2.50 per share, and trust stocks $3 50 per share, and the sales for the week have been 2,250,000 shares. But on Thursday there came a pause. Traders were taking profits, of course, but a more important fact was that London emptied about $3 500 000 worth of stocks on the market rapidly. This indicated less confidence on that side than had been anticipated in the recuperative virtue of assured legislation, and coming so soon after the Vanderbilt purchase, suggested whether its effects upon trunk-line and coal carrying roads though obviously encouraging, had been in all respects apprehended. This selling raised the rate of exchange in the face of the announcement that $510,000 gold has been shipped hither the same day from London at an operation which might have paid better in prices obtained for stocks than in any other way. A fact of real encouragement is that railway earnings for the third week of October show an increase of 3 per cent over last year, the first increase for a long time. Notwithstanding the large sales the market continued unusually strong. In other speculative markets, in spite of monetary comfort and bright prospects gains realized were small. Wheat rose 2 cents, though Atlantic exports fell to 1,100,000 bushels for the week against 1,900 000 bushels last year, in part because western receipts were but 5,800,000 against 8,900,000 last year. But corn declined an eighth with better reports of yield. Coffee declined three-sixteenths. Pork products made only slight gains and cotton fell a quarter, receipts being 60 000 bales greater than last year.

As yet there is seen only a continuance of the faint and slow increase in distribution of products, which has been noticed for some weeks. Nor does even this gradual revival in demand extend to all branches. Most of the increase yet seen in cotton and shoe manufacture may be explained by mere exhaustion in stocks of dealers as frequent requests for immediate delivery show; but there is also reported by dealers a somewhat better demand from consumers and four more cotton mills have started and several increased their forces against those stopping or decreasing. A similar a demand has increased by sixty the number of hosiery and knit goods works reported in operation. The shipment of shoes from the east in four weeks of October are 23 per cent less than last year, against 30 per cent in September, but against eight comparatively small woolen mills starting five have stopped, including one of 2,000 and another of 1,000 hands. There is little sign of increase in the demand for goods. The recent demand for worsteds has subsided, clothiers are doing hardly more than enough to prepare samples. The total sales of wool at the chief markets, including several million pounds, believed to be speculation, have been 9,207,152 pounds in three weeks, against 21,975,000 last year. Two additional iron furnaces have gone into blast, and the output at the south may be a little larger than at the beginning of the month. Some rail mills have resumed manufacture, apparently to provide for future rather than present wants of their customers, and there is some addition to the number of rail and wire works and machine shops employed. But the demand for most products is small; steel billets are called firmer at $20; ship plates are delivered at Philadelphia yards for $1 65, and bar sells with decreasing demand for $1 25 at Chicago. It is hoped that monetary ease and security may encourage railroad extensions and more architectural work. But the shrinkage in demand is not wholly due to the state of the money markets. Lake copper is sold at 97 cents. Tin is a shade lower, lead is quoted at 3.3 cents, in spite of the sale of 1,500 tons, and spelter is firmer only because of large purchases for export.

The New York banks still accumulate money, and commercial loans are more largely asked and obtained. This enables merchants to take goods out of bond, and may increase customs receipts, which have amounted in twenty-five days of October to $10,205,291, against $16,561,559 for the full month last year. Apparently the month's decrease will be about 25 per cent. Internal revenue is probably better maintained in the same time, $11,502,000 against $14,572,786 for the same month last year. The treasury gold fell to nearly $81,000,000, but has since risen more than a million, pension payments decreasing.

The number and magnitude of failures decreased less than has been expected, the liabilities in three weeks of October amounting to $51 702,120, against about $7,000,000 for the same weeks last year. This week there have been 332 failures in the United States, against 187 last year, and 44 in Canada, against 30 last year

PURSUED BY A MOB.

Narrow Escape of an Ex-Priest from a Howling and Frenzied Mob.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28.—One thousand frenzied men marched through the heart of St. Louis last night crying for the life of a deposed priest of the Catholic church.

Joseph Slattery and his wife sat on the platform at Central Turner hall between 8 and 9 o'clock. The ex-priest lectured against the church. A large audience was gathered—an audience of enemies

At 9 o'clock members of the crowd began to shout threats against the man on the platform. He continued to speak as coolly as if he had a party of friends before him. An uproar followed the first shouts, and with mingled cries of "Lynch the man!" and "Hang him!" hundreds of men arose and began a wild rush for the exit.

Fifteen minutes later Slattery, his wife and ten policemen emerged from the hall and started north on Tenth street, headed for the Laclede hotel, the ex-priest's stopping place.

Several pistol shots were fired, dozens of windows were smashed, and the shouting merged into a prolonged yell. The little party hurried along, the great mob following

To Pine street, down Pine to Sixth, on Sixth to Chestnut the crowd rushed madly. The police were powerless. Twenty-five officers shouted themselves hoarse, beat men right and left with their clubs, but the riot swept ahead with the impetuosity of a stampeded herd of cattle.

By 10 o'clock Slattery and his wife reached a place of safety in the Laclede hotel, and before midnight the mad mob was dispersed.

The entire occurrence was one of excitement, one thrilling incident following another without interruption. Hundreds of people cried out against the uprising and hundreds joined it.

Several arrests have been made.

PITTSBURGH'S F...

A Million Dollars in Property Up in Smoke.

SEVERAL HAIRBREADTH ESCAPES.

A Long Row of Tenement Houses Crushed by Falling Walls—The Goods Destroyed the Property of Several Hundred Persons.

A Costly Fire in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Pa, Oct 28.—Shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the entire fire department of the city was summoned to Eleventh and Pike streets. By the time the first engines on the scene were in service flames were bursting from almost every window and door of the immense building owned and occupied by the Chautauqua Lake Ice Co. and the Pittsburgh storage Co. The building occupied a space of 300 by 100 feet, was of brick and stone, seven stories or ninety feet in height.

Hung by His Hands While He Roasted.

Edward Spies, an employe, discovered the fire and gave the alarm. He was working on the fourth floor. Almost instantly he was enveloped in the flames, and although he attempted to fight the fire he was driven back to a window fifty feet from the ground, through which he made his escape. He crept out upon the narrow sill and, dropping down, hung by his hands until rescued by the laddermen of truck A. His hands, arms and face were literally roasted. It was scarcely five minutes after the discovery of the fire until the great structure was ablaze on every floor.

A Welcome Rainfall.

A soaking rainfall aided greatly in preventing the spread of the fire which at several times threatened destruction to the many valuable properties in the vicinity. At 2 o'clock the occupants of surrounding buildings were notified to move out. Between Mulberry alley and Pennsylvania avenue, on the southeast side of the burning building were a cheap class of tenements, crowded to suffocation with Polish Jews and Slavs who were thrown into a panic. Fifteen minutes later the side of the building fell with a terrible crash, burying a long row of tenements just vacated. Flames burst from the burning dwellings, adding danger to the surrounding property. At 2:30 o'clock the four upper stories of the Thirteenth street wall fell outward, burying the street to the depth of ten feet and crushing the house of John Glenn, on the opposite side of the street.

The Only Property Saved.

On the ground floor of the warehouse were five loaded freight cars. Just before the crash they were drawn, all burning, to a place of safety. Of all the hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property stored in the building, these five carloads were all that was saved.

The large warehouses of the Haveler Storage Co., on the opposite side of Pike street, caught fire several times, but were not seriously damaged. The rear of a number of the Pennsylvania-street buildings were also severely scorched. The most serious damage here was to Hiber's drug store, which with contents was almost destroyed.

A Number of Narrow Escapes.

A number of narrow escapes were made by employes in the storage building. They were:

J. Heilman, who dropped from a third floor window to the alley. His injuries are fatal.

Martin Griffith, badly burned; hung from a window until rescued by the firemen

Edward Spies, burned about the head, hands and arms, may not recover.

William Cox also rescued from the third-floor by firemen, badly burned

William Smith, burned about face and body

President William Scott stated last night that the loss to the Chautauqua Lake Ice Co and the Pittsburg Storage Co. will reach almost $1,000,000. He could give no estimate of the amount of insurance, as the papers were all locked in the safe, now in the midst of the flames. The storage apartments, he stated, were filled with all kinds of goods, some of which was very valuable. These goods are owned by probably several hundred different people, and are mostly insured by the owners, as well as by the storage company. At 10 o'clock last night the fire fire was burning furiously, confined by the tottering walls, which were white with the intensity of the heat

THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Lightening Preparatory to an Attempt to Raise Her.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28—At a late hour yesterday afternoon the steamer City of New York was leaning a little to the southwest, slightly down by the stern, and a small list to port. Her hold is full of water and the main deck just washed. She is hard and fast on the rocks, with about twenty-six feet on the port side amidships. Wreckers are at work stripping her, with the object of floating her, which may be done if the weather continues favorable. Her cargo is being discharged into lighters in a damaged condition. Should the bulkheads of the vessel fore and aft break the water will then have no resistance, and it will only be a question of time when she will go to pieces. Inquiry at the office of the Pacific steamship yesterday elicited the information that no arrangements had been made for putting on a boat in the place of the wrecked New York. The next regular steamer for China and Japan will be the "Gaelic," which sails November 8. The Gaelic will be followed one week later by the City of Peking.

The St. Louis Globe Democrat says: "When history comes to winnow the chaff from the wheat in the record of the silver debate in the senate there won't be much of it left but Sherman's speech."

The Globe-Democrat might have added with much propriety, that when the truth is winnowed out of the wreck of Democratic compromise on the silver repeal bill it will be found that both Cleveland and Carlisle had agreed to the compromise and when Secretary Carlisle interviewed John Sherman about it and the latter gentleman gave his opinion of the working of the provisions of that compromise he exploded the whole infernal scheme.

There was a small-sized sensation in the house yesterday. W. S. Linton is a member from Michigan and so is T. E. A. Weadock. Mr. Weadock somehow conceived the notion that Linton had been elected by the votes of persons belonging to a society known as the A. P. A., and that such an election might justly be contested, so Mr. Weadock made a sensational statement affecting the title of William S. Linton to his seat. It was in the form of a memorial from ex-Representative Youmans, who was a candidate against Mr. Linton. The petition asserted that Mr. Linton's election was neither legal nor valid. "It asks," said Mr. Weadock, "for a committee to investigate the whole question, which involves the determination of the existence and animus of an un-American, illegal and traitorous organization, which in Michigan has gone to the length of procuring arms. The organization exists in several States. It is particularly offensive in Michigan. There its machinations have caused a reign of terror."

"Name the organization," cried several voices.

"It is known as the American Protective Association," replied Mr. Weadock.

Mr. Hopkins of Illinois protested against the arraignment of a society as a traitorous organization, and made the point of order that the matter was not privileged.

The Speaker overruled the point, but Mr. Weadock's attention being called to the fact that Mr. Linton was not present he consented to withdraw the matter and allow it to go over.

A Closet Full of Skeletons.

A rain-or-shine campaigner dreamed that a company of Democratic campaigners met in the beginning of the Ohio campaign to devise ways and means to carry on a successful campaign. The first thing they did was to canvass the best methods of exciting the people into voting the Democratic ticket. It was decided that mass meetings were the most essential and promised the best results. To make mass meetings successful parades were necessary, and no parade would be complete without transparencies and glaring mottoes. So a committee was appointed to get up proper and inspiring mottoes.

The committee met and the first motto suggested was, "The Tariff is a Tax." The suggestion brought a thoughtful member to his feet who said: "Gentlemen, that expresses my views, but I am afraid it wont work this year. We have been in full power in the government since the 4th of March, and in my town, where every man was at work a year ago, thousands are now idle and they would laugh at such a motto. It has no charms for an idle man and I tell you it won't do. These idle men don't care for theories. Like the blind man whose sight was restored and who refused to discuss it further than to say 'whereas I was blind, now I see,' so these idle men say, 'whereas I had plenty of work at good pay, now I am idle?' No it won't do to flaunt that sort of a motto in their faces."

Then another reformer suggested "Down with the robber manufacturing barons" whereupon a way back said Jerusalem! that won't do. The robber barons have gone out of business; they are down now, with everybody who depended upon them for work. A member with a loud suit of clothes suggested as a motto, "Labor is entitled to employment." "That's good," said one; "but if we put that out the first thing we will hear from the laboringmen will be "then why don't the Democratic party employ us" and it won't do to attempt again to put them off with promises. A young Democrat suggested as very true and catchy the motto "We vote for principle." In consideration of the young man's feelings there was silence for a few moments, and then an elderly saint broke the silence by inquiring, which principle? Larry Neal's free trade or Cleveland's modified iniquity? Free silver coinage or the repeal of silver purchase? Honest bank notes or "wild cat" currency? The young Democrat was confused, but he had strength enough to rise and say; "I beg your pardon but I don't know."

Then another suggested, "The defenders of the Union are entitled to just pen-

CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE.

More Light in the Famous Bill Newby Pension Case.

The famous Newby case will probably never reach the United States supreme court. The sixty days fixed by Judge Allen of the United States district court, for the filing of the appeal bond expired at Springfield Friday and no bond was filed. Several days ago the court extended the time fifteen days for the filing of the bill of exceptions, but this order did not apply to the bond, and unless the court permits the bond to be filed hereafter the case will never reach the higher court.

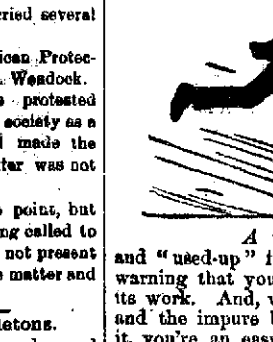

It was given out Friday that the prosecution has come into possession of new evidence so conclusive as to extinguish all doubt as to the identity of the convicted man. Dan Benton's mother, Lydia Benton, it will be remembered, lived at Brentwood, Tenn., where she died about three years ago. Dan was a restless rover, and for years tramped from poor house to poor house through a dozen states. It was shown on the trial that throughout his ramblings he always sent an occasional letter to his mother. Evidence was produced by the prosecution going to establish the identity of the defendant as this wandering son of Lydia Benton, but much of it was weakened by the defense.

But it is claimed were the case to be tried over again District Attorney Shutt could show the jury a number of letters which Dan Benton sent home to his mother. He has just received them from Brentwood, Tenn., where they were found among the effects of the Lydia Benton. Some of them were written from the poor house at Xenia, O. The ...

The state that institution was a witness ... a convention, and Nevada was admitted as a state to the Union October 31, 1864. Nevada had few inhabitants until after 1859, in the summer of which silver was found in the Washoe district, when settlers began to pour in. Virginia City sprang up as if by magic, and in 1864 was the second city west of the Rocky Mountains.

—Sixteen of the newly-formed townships on the eastern side of the Connecticut river, wishing to escape the heavy burden of taxes imposed by the war, applied to the isolated and independent Vermont to be received as a part of that state. They were adopted in 1779, under the pretense that by Mason's patent of New Hampshire that state extended only sixty miles inland, and that those towns were west of that limit. As Vermont yet hoped to be admitted to the Union, and the continental congress, disapproving of the proceeding, sent a committee to inquire into the matter, the connection with the New Hampshire towns was very soon dissolved.

—The property of fog to magnify is due more to the obliteration of detail by which the eye distinctively measures an object than to any real power of enlarging. There are bewildering fogs on Montauk Point sometimes, and only three houses besides the lighthouse to take shelter in. A man who was caught out there toward nightfall in a dense and dripping fog sloshed through a swamp for some distance, and presently came to a building that seemed so huge that it frightened him. When he reached the door he found it was only a farm house; and when he awoke next morning he found that a good road lay right beside the bog that he had wallowed through.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bro... ander, and Mrs. ... police ... Wis., that ... police should be equipped with bicycles, and in this way one policeman could cover a much larger beat and with greater ease, which would permit of a curtailment of the force. The plan is a good one and will probably be adopted.

—There are occasionally bargains to be had of even the street fakirs. An honest hatter of an eastern town having vainly tried to please a customer with a straw hat of moderate price, as such go in the shops, said at length: "Why don't you buy of a street fakir? A large hat concern down east has just failed, and its hats are selling on the street at fifty cents apiece, the very same hat for which I get two dollars."

—"At Pleasure Bay, on the Shrewsbury river, New York, the other day," said a summer tourist, "I saw a watering cart of a style that I had never seen before and which was filled in a way that also was new to me. The cart had four wheels and its tank was a flat, square box, in shape something like the case of a square piano. This tank was suspended under the axles, and when it was desired to fill it the driver simply drove into the river until the tank was submerged."

—At a fancy-work sale a book cover held a quantity of blank leaves intended for notes for a jaunt. "This," said the glib young saleswoman, "is especially designed to give to your brother, lover or husband, as he starts on a fishing trip." When the cover was examined it was found to have painted on its black surface in brilliant red a bottomless well, whose intimation that truth had fallen out of it was accentuated by the legend across the top in glowing script, "Ye Lie Book."

—Where are the croakers who say that everything was all right in "the good old days?" Here comes along a diary written by a lady of fashion some fifty years ago, and among other complaints, which are like echoes of those we hear every day, are these: "Our streets are not wide enough for the carriages, nor the week long enough for one's engagements. There isn't enough money, nor enough time to spend it in. In short, such a mess!" Also, the writer of the diary, Lady Georgina de Ros, says: "No wonder girls are delicate if they eat mutton chops before dinner!"

—"I saw to-day," said a New York citizen, "a man sitting on a hydrant selling lemonade from a pail standing in front of him on the sidewalk. It was good lemonade, I know, for I tried it; but I couldn't help feeling that it was a mistake from a business point of view to sit on the hydrant. Of course he couldn't get into it, we knew that well enough, but it sort of looked as though he had the whole Croton river back of him. Suppose you should see a milkman sitting on a pump and offering milk from a can in front of him? It might be the sweetest, purest milk in the world and the pump might be dry and without a handle, but who would buy the milk?"

—Gertrude Petan, of Bull Creek, Dak., is a genuine female cowboy. She is only 18 years old, but she takes care of all the cattle on her father's ranch. This sometimes takes her thirty or forty miles from home. When the cattle become mired in the mud she must rescue them from their perilous position. This she does in true cowboy fashion by fastening a lariat to the horns of the animal, while she keeps the other end tied to her saddle. She and the pony together then pull the poor beast out. She wears a wide-brimmed felt hat, long gauntlet gloves, is provided with branding irons and rides the wildest broncho.

—The last development of the folding bed is the white enamel and brass. It necessarily lacks the cumbersome dimensions of the desk, the chiffonier and the wardrobe, but it has something far better—cleanliness and health. For small cottage homes, or for apartments where economy of space is sought, it is an admirable thing. For, although it has no shelf for books, bric-a-brac and the like, and is hung with a simple curtain that hides springs and mattress without attempting to disguise the presence of a bed, it occupies very little room, is really a sufficiently pretty object, and, above all things, avoids those pests to which the shut-up wooden sort are liable.

THE AFTERMATH.

The Question of Railroad Business After the Fair.

Said a prominent railroad man to-day: "The future of a large per cent of the roads depends on the business they do in the next four months. After the World's Fair business is over, unless there is a marked revival in freight traffic, many a road now looked upon as solvent, will totter and then drop into the hands of a receiver." He expressed the opinion that there has never been a time since the railways formed so important a part of the country's prosperity that they have been in so precarious a condition as at present. He thought investigation would show that the managements of 50 per cent of the roads of the United States and Canada were studying the problem of how to avoid receiverships.

THE UNION PACIFIC NOT IN IT.

No Intention of Uniting in a Joint Emigrant Clearinghouse.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—It is very evident that the Union Pacific has no intention of uniting with the other western roads in the establishment of a joint emigrant clearinghouse in New York or to have the business equally divided among the competing roads. A reply was received from it yesterday to the request for a conference on the subject. While it did not refuse outright to confer, it did conditionally by saying that one could not be arranged for at present. It does not want any conference, besides it has already made its contracts with the emigrant agents for a year, and does not ... stenographer ... its hand in the ... graduate of the Decatur Business College, can be found at her desk in the Columbia Clothing company's business office, No. 114 South Water street, ready to do short hand and Remington typewriting work on short notice at reasonable figures. ### Who Was a Lunatic With an Alleged Grievance.

ering with astonishing rapidity. Without waiting to register the prisoner he was quickly taken back and placed behind the bars. The station was then cleared of the excited people and the sergeant went for a talk with the prisoner.

"My name is Eugene Patrick Prendergast," he said, in response to the first inquiry.

"Do you know that you have killed Mayor Harrison?" said the sergeant.

"Yes, and I am glad of it," was the answer. "He promised to give me the corporation counselship, and has not kept his word."

"Where do you live?"

"At No. 609 Jane street, with my mother," said the prisoner.

This ended the interview. The sergeant at once telegraphed the central station, and in a few moments several officers from that station were at the Desplaines-street station.

The Prices were tenants on Smith's farm.

that the parallel which was at first drawn between the assassination of President Garfield by Guiteau and the present murder is not a true one. Guiteau was a disappointed office-seeker, who had some qualifications and some claims to office. He was a monomaniac, it is true, but he was undoubtedly responsible for his actions. Prendergast, however, is beyond doubt a lunatic pure and simple. He had studied and read cranky economic theories until his mind gave way. He imagined that he was a reformer; he had schemes for the betterment of all mankind. He was especially interested in the welfare of Chicago, and imagined that he alone could reform the abuses from which the city is suffering. He is especially bitter in his denunciation of the railroad grade crossings, which are responsible for so many deaths every year, and the idea became fixed in his mind that if he were made corporation counsel he could solve the problem of elevating all the railroad tracks within the city limits. Long brooding over the subject bred the illusion that the Mayor had promised him the office; he had insisted upon the fulfillment of the imaginary promise; he haunted the municipal building and annoyed the city officials with his G. Barfaymands. Finally he determined Sloan and Ostbari was acting in bad faith ...upon him. tur. After the children had grow... scattered the parents were brought to Decatur by them in 1875 and this became their home.

The deceased was a model christian mother and the children can look back upon her motherhood, when she cared so gently and so lovingly for their every want and sympathized with them in their childhood troubles, with the most soothing and comforting recollections. A little over a year ago she had an attack of heart failure and came near dying, but she rallied in a short time and was again, apparently, as well as ever, but later on dropsy made its appearance and for the last five months she was unable to lie down and had to spend both night and day in her chair, yet during that long period of affliction she never uttered a word of complaint. Yesterday when she became worse a physician was summoned, and suspecting that he had given the family an opinion as to the probable result she inquired of one of the family and was told that the physician said she could not survive long. She seemed much rejoiced over the information and said, "Oh, I am glad the end is near," and shortly afterwards she gently passed into the peaceful sleep of death.

The funeral will be from the residence, 428 East William street, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the services will be conducted by Rev. D. F. Howe of the First M. E. church. The interment will be at Greenwood cemetery.

Resulted in An Arrest.

Attorney I. A. Buckingham went before Justice Hammer yesterday afternoon and swore out a warrant for William Heatherton on a charge of using profane, obscene and abusive language. The case was taken to Justice Peddecord on a change of venue, and the trial will be had this afternoon with Attorney James Whitley appearing for the defendant. The arrest grew out of the rigid cross-examination of Heatherton's by Buckingham in a civil suit in Justice Odor's court. Heatherton, it appears, made an attempt to strike Buckingham with a chair, but the 'Squire interfered and stopped the racket. Then after the trial Heatherton visited the office of Mr. Buckingham where there was a hot time until an officer came and took Heatherton away. The trial this afternoon will probably be red-hot.

Revenue Tax on Beer.

Dealers in malt liquors at Chicago and throughout Illinois are much exercised over the reports that the new tariff bill is to double the internal revenue tax on beer. The Illinois congressmen are receiving scores of telegrams from the brewers urging them to resist such an increase of the tax. The congressmen feel that they can give little assistance at the present time, as they are kept in entire ignorance of the secret work of the ways and means committee. It is generally expected, however, that the fears of the brewers are well founded and that the revenue tax on beer will be raised to at least $2 a barrel. Owing to the vast amount of beer consumed in this country this added tax will afford one of the largest items of increased revenue to meet the government expenses that can be devised.

Will Have to Wait.

In Justice Hammer's court last evening George Stevens, the burglar caught in Rev. M. L. Wagner's house at night, waived examination on the two charges of burglary and larceny. The total amount of the two bonds is $800. Stevens told the officers that he would esteem it a great accommodation if they could arrange with the state's attorney or Judge Vail to have sentence passed upon him at once so that he could begin serving out his time at Joliet. But there is only one way by which a criminal can break into the penitentiary, and that is via the grand jury. Stevens will have to lay in jail until the January term of court before it will be possible for a grand jury to bring in an indictment against him.

Theodore Nelson in the Field.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Theodore Nelson, now deputy recorder of deeds in Cook county, has filed an application at the treasury for appointment to the much-disputed position of Internal Revenue Collector at Chicago, and as Mr. Nelson, by reason of campaign services, has a large acquaintance among leading and influential Democrats, there is a reasonable hint that he may be the "dark horse."

Theo. appears to be out for the stuff. He is now drawing a salary of $2,500 as deputy recorder, and he gets $2,500 as secretary of the Democratic state central committee. The collectorship must have a big salary attached to tempt Mr. Nelson. Perhaps he will be permitted to hold the three positions.

"Is that the man?" he asked, pointing to Prendergast. Still the witness was not sure, but Prendergast helped her with an exclamation.

"Yes, I saw you last night," he volunteered.

He was told to put on his hat and face the witness.

"Yes," she answered. "That is the man I left standing with Mr. Harrison, and that is the man who did the shooting."

"After he ran away," continued the witness, "they went for doctors, who came right away. Mr. Harrison died about twenty minutes after the shooting. When I saw him he was bleeding."

The Coachman's Story.

P. Elison Rasburg, the Mayor's coachman, who was first to start in pursuit of the assassin and was a target for one of his bullets, identified Prendergast.

"When I heard several shots fired," said he, "I ran out and saw a man standing with a revolver in his hand."

"Do you see him now?" he was asked.

"That man is the man," he answered, pointing to Prendergast.

"He was pointing his revolver at some one in the second room, and as I opened the door to go in he pointed it at me and fired. But I shut the door before he could take aim and ran back to the barn after my revolver, so that ... to catch the ...

A Thief and a Swindler.

Not long since a man claiming to be a deaf mute was in Decatur several days working the people for stray nickels and dimes. His name is Patsey O'Connor, a schemer from Denver. He gave his name here as James Connelly, of Curley. He was accompanied by his son Harry. This week the mute fraud was exposed completely at Pekin by C. W. Traeger, who had given the fellow 25 cents in Peoria. Traeger saw O'Connor in Pekin, and stepping up to him made a remark as to the weather, whereupon the "mute" said he thought it looked like rain. Traeger had the fellow brought to Peoria and put in jail. It has come out that the father and son had visited various cities in Central Illinois. The Peoria police assert that O'Connor is a professional housebreaker and thief, and that the father and son work together. When put in jail O'Connor had on his person a gold watch, considerable money, bank checks, several pocket-books and other articles of value.

Scare at the St. Nick.

A flood of sparks issuing from a chimney at the St. Nicholas hotel at about 1 o'clock this morning, caused a big scare among the guests, brought out the entire fire department in a jiffy and attracted a large number of people to the hotel, everybody thinking at first that the St. Nick was in danger of being burnt to the ground; but it was only a scare. A porter had used a large bunch of excelsior in building a fire in a grate and the flying soot caused the alarm, which was raised by the hackmen, and while the firemen were coming on a run to the hotel, the guests were hurriedly awakened. Nearly all were routed out, and many came rushing down stairs half-dressed. As soon as possible the excitement was subdued and the people retired, being assured that there was no danger of immediate cremation.

Birthday Party.

Yesterday was Mabel Moore's thirteenth birthday, and at her home on West Prairie avenue from 6 to 9 o'clock p. m. she entertained a number of little friends in a very charming manner. Music and games were the order of the evening, during which dainty refreshments were served. Those present were Edith Carter, Sallie Thomas, Julia Gassaway, Marie Powers, Jeannette Powers, Florence Armstrong, Emma Bone, Dot Dillehunt, Gladys Chandler, Dessie Hamsher, Dot Clokey, Grace Hubbard, Alice Bevans, Mabel Howenstine, Charlotte Nelson, Emma Cloyd, Lucy Penhallegon, Madge Young, Nellie Stevens and Marguerite Stauffer.

price of coffee is still affected by the disturbed condition of affairs at Rio de Janeiro. It has advanced 2 cents in ninety days. It is a curious fact, stated by one of Decatur's wholesale grocers, that in seven years the price of coffee has doubled. Coffee that now sells at 26 cents used to sell at 13. The advance is attributed to the increased demand, owing to the roasting of the coffee by the dealers, on account of which the consumer is saved trouble, while by the process employed, that of roasting in cylinders, some of the flavor is lost. It used to be that when the good housewife was roasting coffee the aroma would spread itself all over the neighborhood.

Dixey in "Adonis."

In the Globe-Democrat of Thursday appeared the following paragraph:

Dixey, as graceful, as polished, as agile and as thoroughly clever as ever, has returned to the Olympic in his first love, Adonis. He is starring now under the skillful directorship of Messrs. C. B. Jefferson, Klaw and Erlanger, the theatrical managers who never dabble with waning stars, and as a natural sequence, Adonis is staged with greater spectacular splendor than in its most halcyon days. Adonis gives Dixey greater opportunities in the way of character change than any play he as ever attempted. He is undoubtedly the greatest master of "make up" and facial expression starring—and that is saying a good deal. In Adonis he takes the parts of a statue, Henry Irving, a female elocutionist, a dry goods clerk, a drug clerk, a barber, an old clothes dealer, and a postman, all with consummate skill and appropriate "business". Miss Irene Verona, a laky formed after a Titian model, without the red hair, takes the character of a sculptress with much grace; Miss Belle Black makes a sweet, healthy-looking Goddess Artea, and Carrie E. Perkins does the part of a gawky country miss to the satisfaction of every one in general. Among the gentlemen in the cast, Alexander Clark, Ed. Chapman, Ed. Aiken, James Alexander and Matt Alexander help towards producing a very enjoyable entertainment.

Dixey will appear at the Grand, Monday evening, Oct. 30, with a very large company in support, special scenery and calcium light effects. No advance in prices.

Curious Human Nature.

Decatur was selected in which to decide a curious experiment: A genuine pearl in the line of book-making, perhaps the most sumptuous and magnificent the art of the present day can produce. The official World's Fair book, is practically to be had free here, by reason of a combination of the liberal merchants who go into it as an advertisement to bring them more trade.

This book is worth $25.00 cash and splendidly worth it; but the mere fact that it can be had practically free convinces some people instantly that it must necessarily be a poor "no account" affair.

The question is whether they are on a low plane or whether the book is. The very bible itself warns against giving pearls free. However, it is not intended to insinuate that people who do not take this book are swine. If you do not wish to be missed send name and address to F. L. Horton, St. Nicholas Hotel; glad to call and explain whether you conclude to subscribe or not.

The W. F. "Lizards."

A Tuscola lady who returned from Chicago a few days ago, says that the latest fad among the ladies there in the way of ornaments, is to wear a small green lizard for a breastpin, to which is attached a delicate gold band around the body of the creature. To this is carried a small gold chain. The lizard is about 1½ inches long, and the worst of it is, it is alive and creeps around like a blind mouse. The slimy reptile is fed upon flies and insects and is made a pet. Tuscola ladies have not yet fell in with the new fad, and it is safe to say they won't.—Tuscola Review.

It is known that there are at least two of these so-called lizards in Decatur. How many more it is impossible to state. They are sold in the World's Fair grounds at $1.00 each, and are sold as a species of the chameleon. They change their color to that of the garment on which they are placed, and in time they become very great pets.

A Saw Mill Burned.

Monday night the saw mill located southwest of town belonging to R. E. Dingman caught fire, presumably from the engine and burned down. The mill was destroyed together with a lot of sawed lumber, some of it being black walnut. The loss is between $500 and $600. There was no insurance. Mr. Dingman's intentions in regard to rebuilding are not known.—Niantic Times.

CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE.

More Light in the Famous Bill Newby Pension Case.

The famous Newby case will probably never reach the United States supreme court. The sixty days fixed by Judge Allen of the United States district court, for the filing of the appeal bond expired at Springfield Friday and no bond was filed. Several days ago the court extended the time fifteen days for the filing of the bill of exceptions, but this order did not apply to the bond, and unless the court permits the bond to be filed hereafter the case will never reach the higher court.

It was given out Friday that the prosecution has come into possession of new evidence so conclusive as to extinguish all doubt as to the identity of the convicted man. Dan Benton's mother, Lydia Benton, it will be remembered, lived at Brentwood, Tenn., where she died about three years ago. Dan was a restless rover, and for years tramped from poor house to poor house through a dozen states. It was shown on the trial that throughout his ramblings he always sent an occasional letter to his mother. Evidence was produced by the prosecution going to establish the identity of the defendant as this wandering son of Lydia Benton, but much of it was weakened by the defense.

But it is claimed were the case to be tried over again District Attorney Shutt could show the jury a number of letters which Dan Benton sent home to his mother. He has just received them from Brentwood, Tenn., where they were found among the effects of the Lydia Benton. Some of them were written from the poor house at Xenia, O. The keeper of that institution was a witness during the trial, and there was a mutual recognition between him and the defendant. The rest of the letters were written from other poor houses in Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois and Iowa, all of them since the defendant's release from the Tennessee Penitentiary in 1889. The defendant is now imprisoned at Chester, and in view of the latest developements he will probably complete his two years' sentence.

Hunter Case Reversed.

Attorney Johns received a telegram from Springfield to-day which states that the Hunter case has been reversed. The case is the one in which W. B. Hunter was charged and convicted, by the Macon county circuit court, of having, with intent to defraud voters, while acting as receiving judge at the spring election in Mt. Zion township in 1891, erased the name of D. C. Davidson from a dozen or more tickets before depositing them in the ballot box. The case was carried to the appellate court and the foregoing decision was rendered to-day. Having been reversed without being remanded, this ends the case and Mr. Hunter goes free.

It is understood that the opinion of the court in reversing the case bears wholly upon the indictment, which the attorneys for Hunter claimed from the start was defective in several respects. The opinion covers nearly twenty pages of foolscap. A copy of it may reach Decatur to-night. The judges of the appellate court are Pleasants, Boggs and Wall, two Democrats and one Republican.

A Fine Bunch of Horses.

J. W. Stevens, the hustling horse buyer for Seth Pratt, who has been in Decatur but three days, now has a fine bunch of horses for shipment to Litchfield, Conn. They are all superior animals, selected by Mr. Stevens with special care for the eastern market. The weight of the horses range from 1100 to 1600 pounds, and there is in the bunch a stylish pair of drivers weighing 3200 pounds. Mr. Stevens has made frequent visits to Decatur and as he represents one of the best firms in the east, he never fails to get the pick of the best horses in this section of the Mississippi Valley. Mr. Stevens always offers good prices and pays spot cash. He is thus enabled to secure bargains for the eastern people.

Get a Pretty Souvenir.

Charles A. Pollock, the Wabash ticket agent, who has returned from Chicago, has a supply of very handsome souvenirs of the World's Fair at his office, which the generous Wabash company have provided for the Decatur patrons and friends of the popular Banner route. The souvenir is a highly illuminated book, giving a bird's eye view of Jackson Park, and a good picture of all the buildings. Mr. Pollock will cheerfully present a copy of the book to all who call.

McNulta Retained.

General McNulta, whose opinion to the effect that the hotels built in Chicago to accommodate world's fair visitors could collect by law from the railroads entering Chicago the difference between what their profits were when the rates were low and what they were when the rates were held up, referred to in the REPUBLICAN a few days ago, has been retained by several of the syndicates that built and operated hotels in the vicinity of Jackson Park.

Not Guilty.

The jury in the murder trial at Shelbyville, brought in a verdict yesterday, finding Grant Atterberry not guilty of the murder of his aged father, David Atterberry, who was found dead in the road in Penn township, east of Moweaqua, Nov. 23, 1891. Grant's brother Ed. was also indicted for the murder. He is insane and is in the state asylum at Kankakee.

The Rural Prophet.

According to the rural prophet, all signs this season point to an early and severe old-fashioned winter. The ears of corn are deeply imbedded in husk, the pumpkin wears an unusually hard gloss and all kinds of nuts are hard to hull. These are old-time said never to fail, and people are advised to bank up their cellars and get their fuel early and lots of it.

New Church at Warrensburg.

Friday Rev. James Tomkins, of Chicago, Secretary of the Illinois Home Missionary Society, Rev. W. C. Miller of the Decatur church, and Mr. L. Barnard were at Warrensburg to attend the council called to consider the advisability of organizing a Congregational church there. There was quite a large meeting. It was decided to organize a church and that was done forthwith. Rev. W. C. Miller delivered the sermon setting forth the principles of Congregationalism. Dr. Tomkins extended the right hand of fellowship. Rev. F. E. Hall of the Second Congregational church at Springfield delivered the charge to the church and Rev. J. D. McCord of Chicago offered the prayer. There are 20 charter members of the new church.

Regarding Hogs.

There seems to be a great diversity of opinion about the probable supply of hogs during the coming winter. Reasoning from agricultural reports and private information from the producers themselves one would naturally conclude that the available supply would fall far short of last season's crop. However there are some, but chiefly those interested in packing, who estimate that receipts of hogs in the winter months will show an increase with last year. Of course, at this early date it is hard to prognosticate with any feeling of assurance, though it certainly looks as if there would be a noticeable shortage.

McNulta's Idea Ridiculed.

The talk of Gen. McNulta, ex-receiver of the Wabash, about bringing suit on behalf of several World's Fair hotels against the railroads because they did not reduce rates early in the season and thereby, in Gen. McNulta's opinion, kept people from going to the fair, and caused financial loss to the hotels, is laughed at by most railroad men in Chicago. Some of them declare that if the hotels bring suit they will return the compliment by claiming damages from the hotels for keeping the people by their high prices from patronizing railroads. Only one railroad man would talk of the matter in a serious way, and he swore at it.

Affirmed.

In the case of E. B. Sanner vs. S. E. Smith, taken to the appellate court by Sanner from Macon county, the court yesterday affirmed the finding in the circuit court, which was in favor of Mr. Smith, who received a verdict for about $700 worth of corn on a farm sold to Sanner by Smith. In this case Mills Bros. were attorneys for Smith, and George B. Chaffee, of Shelbyville, L. A. Buckingham and W. C. Johns for Sanner.

CHAS. PEARES caught his left hand in a patent corn-husking machine Wednesday at his home, two and a half miles southeast of Maroa, and a part of his hand, including three fingers, was cut entirely off. The part cut off ranged diagonally from about half way between the wrist joint and the little finger to the point of the index finger, a small piece of that finger being cut off. The physician thinks amputation of the remaining part of the hand will not be necessary.

Print the List.

The names of all the Ohio soldiers, 2000 in number, whose pensions have been suspended since the fourth of March have been printed, as a reply to Taylor's statement that only 16 had been suspended. Taylor is the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, and has a well-established reputation as a notorious liar.

Services at St. John's.

Rev. Andrew Gray, of Boston, Mass., will hold services at St. John's Protestant Episcopal church to-morrow morning at 10:30, and 7:30 in the evening. Mr. Gray will arrive here from Chicago this afternoon and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Bishop.

No Action.

There was no quorum at the state fair committee meeting this afternoon. An adjournment was taken to 11 a. m. next Thursday.

MIDWAY has been a success as an annex to the fair. It has paid $4,000,000 into the common treasury at the price of [...] [con]cessions.

THE AFTERMATH.

The Question of Railroad Business After the Fair.

Said a prominent railroad man to-day: "The future of a large per cent of the roads depends on the business they do in the next four months. After the World's Fair business is over, unless there is a marked revival in freight traffic, many a road now looked upon as solvent, will totter and then drop into the hands of a receiver." He expressed the opinion that there has never been a time since the railways formed so important a part of the country's prosperity that they have been in so precarious a condition as at present. He thought investigation would show that the managements of 50 per cent of the roads of the United States and Canada were studying the problem of how to avoid receiverships.

THE UNION PACIFIC NOT IN IT.

No Intention of Uniting in a Joint Emigrant Clearinghouse.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—It is very evident that the Union Pacific has no intention of uniting with the other western roads in the establishment of a joint emigrant clearinghouse in New York or to have the business equally divided among the competing roads. A reply was received from it yesterday to the request for a conference on the subject. While it did not refuse outright to confer, it did conditionally by saying that one could not be arranged for at present. It does not want any conference, besides it has already made its contracts with the emigrant agents for a year, and does not want to show its hand in the matter.

This means continued demoralization in emigrant rates which it will be next to impossible to prevent spreading to other classes of rates. It may, in fact, result in an all-round passenger rate war in western territory, just as soon as World's fair business is got out of the way.

Net cash rates for the transportation of United States troops over western roads are to be restored November 1 to the basis in effect prior to December 7 last, except that the temporarily reduced rates now in effect will be available for business of this character from Chicago and St. Louis and points affected till November 15, after which a new tariff sheet for these low rates will be issued.

SETTLED WITH JUSTICE.

Dr. F. O. Vincent, the Wife Murderer, Hanged at Fresno, Cal.

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 28.—Dr. F. O. Vincent, who was convicted of murder in 1891, was hanged in the county jail court yard at noon yesterday.

On December 13, 1890, Vincent while under the influence of liquor, shot and killed his wife who had commenced proceedings for a divorce on account of his cruelty. It was a cold-blooded murder and Vincent narrowly escaped being lynched by the infuriated citizens. Vincent's case had been appealed to the state and the United States supreme court and the decision of the lower court was affirmed in both cases.

The murderer passed a sleepless night, but ate a hearty breakfast and went firmly to the scaffold, maintaining his courage to the end.

A Fine Concert Company.

The first entertainment of the Y. M. C. A. Star Course was given at the Grand last night by the Schuman Male Quartette, and it was heard and enthusiastically applauded by a large audience which filled the parquet and balcony. The selections proved to be very popular, and so eager were the auditors for more, more, that the programme was nearly doubled. The next entertainment will be a lecture by Rev. Joseph Cook on Nov. 16th.
